Keypoint Health

Keypoint Health Services - Baltimore, MD

Key Point Health Services was rapidly outgrowing its clinical office and treatment space(s). Housed in three (3) separate buildings and in a fast growing market they needed to consolidate and maintain more control over all their isolated operations. Polt Design Group was referred to Key Point Health Services as a design firm that “listens” and then designs based on input from users. PDG was also lauded and selected for their attention to detail and performing in a very timely manner.

An existing eye-sore building in Aberdeen, Maryland was selected and proceeded to design the retrofit of the 20,000 square foot interior space for use by Key Point and it’s intricate clinical space requirements. The original building was an abandoned grocery store and was located in a run down area considered as part of a “Hub Zone” region of Aberdeen.

The construction is nearly complete and the design required the aesthetics to blend in with the neighborhood as well as an attempt at presenting a welcoming appearance instead of a cold and impersonal, institutional facility. The facility has offices, conference rooms, work spaces, kitchen & dining facilities, training rooms, classrooms and med records storage areas.
